DETAILED ACTION

Rejections and/or objections as previously applied

Claims 1 and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the applicant's admitted prior art (AAPA) of this application.

With respect to claim 1, AAPA teaches a method of manufacturing a thin film transistor array panel, the method comprising (see pages 1 and 2 of this application):

- Forming a gate conductor on an insulating substrate;
- Forming a gate insulating layer;
- Forming a semiconducto member;
- Forming a data conductor; and
- Forming a pixel electrode connected to the data conductor.

AAPA appears to teach forming the gate conductor, the data conductor, and the pixel electrode are formed by etching using different etchants and conditions.

However, it would have been obvious to one of skilled in semiconductor art to form the gate conductor, the data conductor, and the pixel electrode by etching using single etchant or one etchant to reduce processing steps and processing material to thereby reduce production cost.

With respect to claim 26, AAPA further teaches the data conductor comprises of at least two layers. See para [0005] of this application.

Claim 27 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the applicant's admitted prior art (AAPA) of this application.

With respect to claim 1, AAPA teaches a method of manufacturing a thin film transistor array panel, the method comprising (see pages 1 and 2 of this application):

- Forming a gate conductor on an insulating substrate;
- Forming a gate insulating layer;

Forming a semiconductor member;

Forming a data conductor; and

Forming a pixel electrode connected to the data conductor.

AAPA appears to teach forming the gate conductor, the data conductor, and the pixel electrode are formed by etching using different etchants and conditions.

However, it would have been obvious to one of skilled in semiconductor art to form the gate conductor, the data conductor, and the pixel electrode by etching using single etchant or one etchant to reduce processing steps and processing material to thereby reduce production cost.

AAPA also fails to teach the etchant is a phosphoric acid, a nitric acid, or acetic acid.

However, the etching of metal by a phosphoric acid, a nitric acid, or acetic acid is well-known in semiconductor art.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 04/17/07 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. See below.

In response to the applicant's arguments in the paragraphs on pages 7, 8, and 9 of the amendment dated 04/17/07, it is submitted that it would have been obvious to one of skilled in semiconductor art to form the gate conductor, the data conductor, and the pixel electrode by etching using single etchant or one etchant or simultaneously to reduce processing steps and processing material to thereby reduce production cost.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 2-14 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 15-17 are allowed.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
